Union Chiefs and Owners To Start First Conference Under New Law.

EXPECTED TO AGREE Bipartisan Board May Set-

From Public.

Settlement of the railroad wage ontroversy without calling in the public as final arbiter is the hope of the railroad executives and union leaders, who will sit down in Washington today at the first bipartisan wage conference under the new transportation law. There is every indication that both sides will make a genuine effort at satisfactory adresult if the Railway Labor Board, to be set up under the law, is forced

Conference Initial Step. The meeting today, called under provisions of the law which provide labor disputes, will be attended by the heads of the seventeen railroad organization involved and a com-Hartford Railway Company, representing the railroad owners. It is expected that the conference board also is bipartisan. Its personnel is chosen by the railroad owners and the labor organizations. Labor Seeks Settlement. Should the adjustment board fail. the dispute will go to the railroad labor board, which is a tri-partisan DIES AFTER ILLNESS organization, to be appointed by the President, and composed of nine members - three representing the justment which will take up the wage controversy. The adjustment railroads, three the unions, and opposed labor sections of the new transportation law on the ground were unnecessary to the settlement the public will feel bound to accept. ailroad interests also have favored the bipartisan arrangement. (Public Ledger Service.)
